Rain deficit at 5% as monsoon progresses

Regional imbalance in distribution remains

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, June 20

WITH THE SOUTHWEST monsoon entering Madhya Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, coastal Andhra Pradesh, Odisha, West Bengal, Jharkhand and Bihar on Monday, cumulative rainfall deficiency so far has been reduced to 5% from 25% reported on June 16.

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) has predicted an intense spell of rainfall along the west coast in the next five days.

"Thunderstorm activity accompanied by heavy showers is likely to continue over north, central and east India during the next two days," IMD said in a statement.

During June 1-20, the cumulative average monsoon rainfall was 88.1 mm, which was 5% less than the normal volume of 92.8 mm. During June 1-16, the cumulative rainfall was 51.3 mm, which was 25% less than the normal volume of 68.1 mm.

Only the east and northeast region of the country has received 46% more monsoon rainfall than normal volume so far. Cumulative deficiency in rain over the southern peninsula was reported at 21%. Northwest India and central India have rainfall deficiency of 24% and 41%, respectively.

"Monsoon's active phase has started since June 17, we are expecting a normal rainfall this month," M Ravichandran, secretary, ministry of earth sciences, told FE. IMD will provide a monsoon forecast for July on June 30.

Officials said that rainfall intensity in July is crucial for boosting kharif crops sowing pace. On May 31, the IMD said monsoon rains this year will be more than what it had forecast in April at 103% of the benchmark long-period average (LPA), with 81% chance of rainfall being either "normal" or above.

The rains will also be well-distributed spatially across the four broad regions and most parts of the country, the agency had said. In its forecast for June, the IMD has predicted a normal rainfall in the range of 92-108 % of LPA.

SC to hear case on tenure of NCLT members in detail

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 20

THE SUPREME COURT on Monday refused to pass any interim order on the issue of extending tenure of 23 members of the National Company Law Tribunals (NCLTs), saying it will hear in detail the case, including the appointment process, rights of the persons who have been appointed and their right to continue in office for five years on July 20.

A vacation bench, led by Justice C.T. Ravikumar, said that it will examine the locus standi of the NCLT Bar Association, which has challenged the Centre's notification fixing the term of 23 NCLT members appointed in 2019 as 3 years instead of 5 years. If in the end, it decides in favour of a five-year term, then it would separately examine issue of those members who retire while the case was pending, the judges said, while posting the matter for further hearing on July 20.

While the NCLT members who were appointed in 2019 claim that they were entitled to a tenure of five years, the government says it can appoint someone for a three-year term too. Barring eight members whose tenures were extended last week by the government, rest are scheduled to retire by July 3. The bench observed that when the government had sought applications for the posts, and when appointment letters were handed out back in 2019, both documents clearly mentioned the tenure of service as three years.

However, the main government notification that had invited applications for the posts for three years is yet to be challenged. "(Members) signed their appointment letters with open eyes," the SC said, while observing that that the government is not bound to extend the tenure even though it may be a common practice.

The Centre told the judges that the bar association's petition was not maintainable as the affected persons had consciously accepted the tenure prescribed in their appointment orders of September 2019 by choosing not to initiate any proceedings.

₹5,000-cr credit line for Cidco's PMAY housing

STATE BANK OF India has provided line of credit of ₹5,000 crore to the PMAY mega housing scheme being developed by Cidco, thus achieving financial closure. This will speed up the construction of houses under the scheme and make the dream of affordable housing come true of many common citizens.

"The line of credit sanctioned by State Bank of India will enable completion of the scheme on time. Interest rate of 6% is probably the lowest rate for any PSU historically. This mega housing scheme is amongst the largest of its type in the world," Sanjay Mukherjee, vice chairman and managing director, Cidco said.

SBI has sanctioned the line of at a very affordable rate of only 6%.

DoT extends telecom gear PLI by a year

KIRAN RATHEE
New Delhi, June 20

THE DEPARTMENT OF telecommunications (DoT) on Monday extended the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for telecom equipment manufacturing by a year while also amending the scheme to facilitate design-led manufacturing. Companies can apply for design-led manufacturing, with incentives worth ₹4,000 crore, from June 21.

The telecom PLI scheme, with an outlay of ₹12,195 crore was notified last year, under which 31 global and local companies were selected to undertake incremental production worth ₹1.82 trillion over five years. But since the outlay was not utilised fully, the design-led manufacturing has been incorporated into the PLI scheme. The DoT will give an option to companies selected under telecom PLI to also apply for design-led manufacturing, which gives 1% higher incentive. But in order to get selected, the companies have to design locally and register the source code in India. Since, most of the global firms don't have their source code here, Indian companies may stand to benefit more.

The DoT has extended the telecom PLI scheme by one year as many medium and small firms are yet to submit their investment plans and have not met the production targets for the current fiscal year. With the extension, the existing PLI beneficiaries will be given an option to choose financial year 2021-22 or financial year 2022-23 as the first year of incentive. Although the scheme has been extended to six years, firms can get incentives for five years as was originally planned. Those companies which have met the targets can take the incentives in 2021-22 while the others can take it from next year onwards.

The DoT has also approved addition of 11 new telecom and networking products to the existing list. Notable companies selected under the scheme include Flextronics, Foxconn, Jabil, Nokia, Rising Star, Dixon Techno-gies, VVDN Technologies, Tejas Networks, HFCL, ITI, Coral Telecom and Lekha Wireless, among others. The scheme offers incentives between 4% and 7% for different categories and tenures. For the MSMEs, a 1% higher incentive is proposed in year 1, year 2 and year 3. Financial year 2019-20 will be treated as the base year for computation of cumulative incremental sales of manufactured goods net of taxes.

For design-led manufacturing, incentives will be given for five years, commencing from April 1, 2022. With the objective to build a strong ecosystem for 5G, the Union Budget 2022-23 had proposed to launch a scheme for design-led manufacturing. The scheme is open to both MSME and non-MSME companies including domestic and global companies. The applications from design-led manufacturers shall be prioritised over other manufacturers while shortlisting. The design-led manufacturing is primarily aimed to support efforts for designing telecom products in India. It will recognise and encourage R&D-driven manufacturing in the country to enhance its contribution to global value chain as envisaged in the National Digital Communication Policy, 2018.
